

Science on tap Quench your interest

Wednesday June 4, 2014 @ 5:00PM

Heart and Crown, Peter Divines room

67 Clarence St. Ottawa, ON

Effect of testing strategies on uptake of HIV/AIDS services in populations at high risk of exposure to HIV

 kevin.pottie

The Public Health Agency of Canada estimates around 25% of people living with HIV in Canada don't know they are infected. This multicultural community café will explore the effectiveness of different HIV testing approaches. We welcome a diverse audience of academics, policy makers, medical experts, medical students, persons who use IV drugs and community leaders, including those from those countries where HIV is endemic, to join this important conversation on the health and well-being of groups at high risk for HIV exposure in Ottawa.

Moderator:
Louisa Taylor, Journalist

Experts:
University of Ottawa
Dr Mark Tyndall, Head Infectious Diseases,
Ottawa Hospital
Dr Kevin Pottie, Department of Family Medicine,
Bruyere Research Institute

Contact: gdahal@uottawa.ca